Built for Kids

Symphony Math automatically adjusts to your child's learning style and skill level. Encourage them to do their best, but try not to give too much help. Remember, mistakes are okay: that's how we learn. Once your child begins the programme, they will do a general assessment followed by the activities I have opened for them.

If you have specific queries regarding access or developmental stages, please email me at the above address and I will do my best to reply as soon as possible.

Yours sincerely,

Christine Martin
